

Czechoslovak Genealogical Society International
Pioneer and Century Family Certificates

How to apply

1) Complete all pages of the application form

If you already have an ancestral chart in a different format, a copy of that may be submitted.

After printing a form, please compare it with the screen to determine if all pages were printed. If portions of the forms have not been printed, the information can be written on separate sheets. Photocopies of forms may be made for multiple applications.

2) Include Copies of Official Records

Ancestors may be individuals or couples married in Europe who then immigrated together. A couple who were married in Europe and who immigrated together may be named as ancestors on the same certificate, but to do so include copies of official records that document the presence of both husband and wife in North America at the same time. If you already have an ancestral chart in a different format, a copy of that may be submitted. It is customary to include maiden names of female ancestors in genealogical documents. The clearest method would probably be punctuated with parenthesis:

Given Name (Maiden Name) Married Name

Example: Maruska (Horák) Cormej.

Note: The example shows that diacritical marks, such as the ´ can be included.

The applicant may, but is not required to, include information about ancestors preceding those who immigrated to North America. It is suggested that a photocopy of the completed application be retained for your records. Photocopy the official records that you will submit as proof of residency of ancestors on the North American continent.

Photocopying Census Records:

Be sure to photocopy page the headings which show the year, date, town/township, county, state, etc. If a census page cannot be reproduced on one sheet of paper, two sheets may be used with enough overlap to insure that the sheets are from the same page. Photocopies must be clear and legible. Photographs that might enhance the announcement of the award of the certificate that will be printed in the newsletter may be included. Do not submit original documents or photographs.

3) Write a check

The fees for certificates are:

$15.00 for members of CGSI

$12.00 for certificates with the same ancestor and descent

$20.00 for non-members of the Society.

Checks should be made payable to the Czechoslovakia Genealogical Society International. The abbreviation CGSI may be used. Checks will not be deposited until the application has been evaluated and the awarding of a certificate has been approved.

Send the completed application form, copies of official records, photographs and a check for the appropriate amount to: CGSI, P.O. Box 16225, St. Paul MN 55116-0225
